BLAZER BUZZ

What's My Responsibility?

Direct your children onto the right path, and when they are older, they will not leave it. ~Proverbs 22:6

*The question is not whether or not our children sin later in life. The question is, do we have a biblical obligation to train them before they leave home?
~Voddie Baucham*

The joy and privilege of being a parent is something that my wife and I have considered to be our highest calling as a married couple - outside of our commitment to each other and our commitment to Christ to share His Gospel message. As God has entrusted us with four children, we have made an effort to train them up in the one true faith. Devotions and prayer time at home, Sunday worship, service projects, youth group, mission trips and Christian schooling are all tools that we have used to help them to understand and embrace the fact that God loves us, that Jesus, the Messiah, is true God and true man and that the His word is true as a book of life and as historical evidence that our faith can withstand the toughest of tests.

When it came to school, we did not hesitate to trust our local Lutheran schools with our kids, all the way through high school. In the nearly 21,000 hours (rough estimate per child) that our kids were away from us from Kindergarten through 12th grade, we were so blessed to have wonderful men and women of faith instructing them, coaching them, guiding them and disciplining them in a way that matched up with our goals and values at home - with Christ at the center of everything! We had great confidence in the faculty and staff of our Lutheran school system as they committed themselves to the amazing faith-based system of education that our Green Bay churches help support.

Helping families prepare Christian leaders.

What about you? Many of you reading this have done the same and it's a privilege to partner with you in our mission of Helping Families Prepare Christian Leaders. If you haven't explored Lutheran education for your family, my question to you is - why not? The quality of academics is second to none and your kids would have tremendous opportunities to get involved in extracurricular activities. You have nothing to lose and a lot to gain by visiting our local Lutheran schools. Making that decision for your children, all the way through high school, could be the most rewarding decision that you ever make.

Thank you for your support and we look forward to your visit!

God's peace,

Mr. Chris Nelson
